

COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

Employee Policies, Workplace Guidelines, and Benefits

Document Version: 2026.1

Effective Date: January 1, 2026

Applies To: All eligible employees unless a policy states otherwise

This handbook provides a practical overview of workplace policies and expectations. It is intended to help employees understand company procedures, responsibilities, benefits, and standards of professional conduct.

Table of Contents

- 1. Company Overview
- 2. Working Hours
- 3. Casual Leave Policy
- 4. Sick Leave Policy
- 5. Work From Home Policy
- 6. Health Insurance
- 7. Confidentiality
- 8. Performance Reviews
- 9. Learning and Development
- 10. Code of Conduct

1. Company Overview

The company provides software development, consulting, data, cloud, and technology services to clients across multiple industries. Our teams work collaboratively to deliver reliable solutions while maintaining high standards of professionalism and integrity.

Our Workplace Principles

- Customer focus: Understand customer needs and deliver measurable value.
- Ownership: Take responsibility for commitments, decisions, and outcomes.
- Collaboration: Share knowledge and communicate respectfully across teams.
- Continuous improvement: Learn from feedback and improve processes.
- Integrity: Be honest, transparent, and responsible in professional activities.

Employee Responsibilities

Employees are expected to understand applicable company policies, complete assigned work responsibly, protect company resources, communicate issues promptly, and maintain professional behavior when interacting with colleagues, customers, and partners.

Questions About Policies

Employees who need clarification about a policy should contact their manager or the Human Resources department. Where a specific employment agreement or applicable law provides a different requirement, the appropriate requirement should be followed.

2. Working Hours

The standard working schedule is 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM, Monday through Friday, unless a team, project, client engagement, or employment arrangement specifies a different schedule.

Core Availability

Employees should remain reasonably available during core working hours for collaboration, meetings, customer communication, and urgent project activities. Team members should keep their calendars and communication status reasonably up to date.

Attendance and Schedule Changes

If an employee expects to be unavailable during scheduled working hours, they should inform their manager as early as possible. Repeated or unexplained attendance issues may be reviewed by the manager and HR according to applicable company procedures.

Overtime and Project Requirements

Certain projects may require work outside standard hours because of customer deadlines, production incidents, releases, or international time zones. Such work should be coordinated with the manager and handled according to applicable company rules.

Example Daily Schedule

Activity	Typical Time
Start of work	9:00 AM
Core collaboration period	9:30 AM – 12:30 PM
Lunch / break	1:00 PM – 2:00 PM
Afternoon work	2:00 PM – 5:30 PM
End of standard day	6:00 PM

3. Casual Leave Policy

Eligible employees are entitled to 12 casual leaves per calendar year. Casual leave is intended for personal work, family requirements, emergencies, or other short-term needs that do not fall under another specific leave category.

Request Procedure

Whenever reasonably possible, employees should submit a leave request through the HR portal before taking leave. The request should include the requested dates and any information required by the company's leave system.

Manager Approval

Leave requests are subject to normal approval procedures and operational requirements. Employees should avoid scheduling leave during critical project activities when alternatives are available and should coordinate handovers for important responsibilities.

Emergency Leave

When an unexpected emergency prevents advance submission, the employee should notify the manager as soon as practical and submit the formal request afterward.

Leave Planning Example

- Annual casual leave entitlement: 12 days.
- Requests should normally be submitted through the HR portal.
- Employees should communicate planned absences to relevant team members.
- Critical work should be handed over before planned leave.
- The HR portal should be treated as the authoritative record for leave balances.

4. Sick Leave Policy

Sick leave is intended for periods when an employee is unable to work because of illness or a health-related situation. Employees should notify their manager as soon as possible when they are unable to report to work.

Notification

Employees should use the normal company communication channel to inform their manager and follow the HR process for recording the absence. For longer absences, HR may request supporting documentation in accordance with applicable rules.

Return to Work

After an extended absence, the employee and manager should coordinate a practical return-to-work plan where appropriate. The employee should communicate any work handover or scheduling needs.

5. Work From Home Policy

Eligible employees may work remotely up to two days per week with prior manager approval.

Remote work is intended to provide flexibility while maintaining productivity, collaboration, security, and customer service.

Remote Work Expectations

- Remain available during normal working hours.
- Attend scheduled meetings and respond to work communications in a timely manner.
- Use approved company devices, applications, and secure network connections.
- Protect confidential information from unauthorized viewing or access.
- Maintain a suitable working environment and reliable internet connection.
- Inform the manager promptly if a technical issue affects availability.

6. Health Insurance

The company provides health insurance coverage to eligible full-time employees subject to the terms and conditions of the applicable insurance plan. Coverage details, limits, exclusions, and eligible dependents are defined by the current plan documents.

Coverage and Claims

Employees can contact HR or the designated insurance administrator for information about coverage, claim submission, approved hospitals, documentation, and dependent enrollment.

Employee Responsibilities

- Keep personal and dependent information current in the HR system.
- Review policy terms before making significant medical or insurance decisions.
- Submit required claim documents within the applicable timelines.
- Contact HR when clarification is needed about eligibility or administrative procedures.

7. Confidentiality

Employees must protect confidential company information, customer information, source code, business strategies, credentials, financial information, and other non-public information.

Handling Confidential Information

Confidential information should only be accessed when required for legitimate business purposes. Employees must not share confidential information with unauthorized individuals or upload it to unapproved services.

Security Practices

- Use strong authentication and follow company security requirements.
- Do not share passwords or authentication tokens.
- Lock company devices when unattended.
- Report suspected security incidents promptly.

8. Performance Reviews

Employee performance reviews are conducted periodically to provide feedback, recognize contributions, identify development opportunities, and align individual goals with team and company objectives.

Review Areas

- Quality and reliability of work.
- Project contribution and delivery against agreed responsibilities.
- Teamwork and communication.
- Problem-solving and ownership.
- Learning, skill development, and adaptability.

9. Learning and Development

Employees are encouraged to participate in technical training, workshops, certifications, mentoring, internal knowledge-sharing sessions, and other learning activities that improve professional skills.

Recommended Development Process

1. Identify skills needed for the current role.
2. Discuss development priorities with the manager.
3. Select suitable courses, projects, or learning resources.
4. Apply the learning through practical work.
5. Review progress and update development goals periodically.

Examples of Learning Areas

Examples include Python programming, databases, cloud platforms, software engineering, data analysis, machine learning, artificial intelligence, communication, project management, and customer-domain knowledge.

10. Code of Conduct

Employees are expected to behave professionally and respectfully toward colleagues, customers, vendors, and business partners. The company expects an inclusive workplace where people can perform their responsibilities without harassment, discrimination, intimidation, or inappropriate behavior.

Professional Behavior

- Communicate respectfully, even when there is disagreement.
- Avoid harassment, discrimination, bullying, and threatening behavior.
- Use company resources responsibly and for legitimate business purposes.
- Protect confidential and customer information.
- Disclose conflicts of interest when required.
- Follow applicable laws, regulations, security requirements, and company procedures.

Reporting Concerns

Employees who observe a potential policy violation or workplace concern should raise it through their manager, HR, or the company's designated reporting channel. Reports should be made honestly and handled through the appropriate internal process.

Quick Reference

Policy	Key Point
Casual Leave	12 days per calendar year
Working Hours	9:00 AM – 6:00 PM, Monday–Friday
Work From Home	Up to 2 days per week with manager approval
Health Insurance	Available to eligible full-time employees
Confidentiality	Protect company and customer information

End of Handbook. For the most current requirements, employees should refer to the official HR systems, applicable employment documentation, and current policy communications.